MVCTC Habitat for Humanity House Dedicated

Kettering, Ohio – The Miami Valley Career Technology Center (MVCTC) Construction Carpentry Program on August 23, 2013, attended the dedication of the Habitat for Humanity House they constructed. For the past 15 years, the MVCTC Carpentry Program has partnered with Dayton Habitat for Humanity to complete a house that allows students to use the skills learned in class to help others.

The construction begins in September of each school year and is finished by spring. After the house is completed on the MVCTC campus, it is moved to its permanent location where the new owners will help with its completion.

“Building for Habitat is a great way for my students to give back the community for the support we get. It’s not just an education in their chosen career field but an education in life,” states Kelly Kramer who is the MVCTC carpentry instructor and general “foreman” of the Habitat project. “

As part of the August 23, house dedication ceremony, the MVCTC students were able to meet the family that will be living in the house and see firsthand the impact they have had on others’ lives.
